The 2008 International Dental Exhibition and Meeting (IDEM) was held in Singapore on 4-6 April. 1,370 trade visitors from 56 countries, 12 per cent more than in 2006, made the trip to the Suntec. IDEM Singapore 2008 has continued to grow in popularity as the number of exhibitors increased, with 384 exhibitors from 34 countries, a 20 per cent increase in the number of exhibitors. 65 per cent of the exhibitors came from outside Singapore. The top visiting countries were Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand, India and Australia.

Staged at the Suntec Singapore Exhibition and Convention Centre, IDEM Singapore 2008 was organized by Koelnmesse and its subsidiary, Koelnmesse Pte Ltd, in association with FDI. The exhibition occupied 10,000 square meters and included 384 exhibitors from 34 countries. The expanded exhibition floor. The FDI presented both its scientific program, the lunchtime Dental Therapy: “The WHPA will build on facilitation of international conferences,”

The next IDEM Singapore will take place on 16-18 April 2010. IDEM Singapore 2010 will be held in conjunction with the 61st World Health Assembly (WHA) in Geneva, Switzerland. The FDI delegation contributed to selected agenda items through presentation of statements on the meeting floor. The FDI presented the following statements independently and jointly with the World Health Professions Alliance (WHPA) on the subjects of prevention and control of noncommunicable diseases: implementation of the global strategy, health of migrants, climate change, female genital mutilation and counterfeited medical products.

Amongst those present from the FDI at the WHA include Dr Burton Conrad, FDI President, Dr John Hunt, FDI Interim Executive Director, Dr Habib Benzian, FDI Develop­ment and Public Health Manager, Dr Julian Fisher, FDI Scientific Affairs and Public Health Manager and Mr Jon Cralle, FDI Development and Public Health Coordinator, Mrs Djerdana Ivosevic, Projects Coordinator, and Christina Lee Thores, FDI Communications Coordinator. Full details of the FDI interventions are available on the FDI website at www.fdiworldental.org/public/wha2010/.

In addition to the Assembly itself, the FDI, along with its WHPA partners, holds annually on the opening day of the Assembly a lunch reception for the diplomatic corps of health country delegations and other participants attending the WHA. The reception, attended by more than 250 participants, gave members of national health professional associations and governments the opportunity to meet and discuss health and the health professions.

The FDI continues to grow in popularity as the number of exhibitors increased, with 384 exhibitors from 34 countries, a 20 per cent increase in the number of exhibitors. 65 per cent of the exhibitors came from outside Singapore. The top visiting countries were Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand, India and Australia.

Staged at the Suntec Singapore Exhibition and Convention Centre, IDEM Singapore 2008 was organized by Koelnmesse and its subsidiary, Koelnmesse Pte Ltd, in association with FDI. The exhibition occupied 10,000 square meters and included 384 exhibitors from 34 countries. The expanded exhibition floor. The FDI presented both its scientific program, the lunchtime Dental Therapy: “The WHPA will build on facilitation of international conferences,”

The next IDEM Singapore will take place on 16-18 April 2010. IDEM Singapore 2010 will be held in conjunction with the 61st World Health Assembly (WHA) in Geneva, Switzerland. The FDI delegation contributed to selected agenda items through presentation of statements on the meeting floor. The FDI presented the following statements independently and jointly with the World Health Professions Alliance (WHPA) on the subjects of prevention and control of noncommunicable diseases: implementation of the global strategy, health of migrants, climate change, female genital mutilation and counterfeited medical products.

Amongst those present from the FDI at the WHA include Dr Burton Conrad, FDI President, Dr John Hunt, FDI Interim Executive Director, Dr Habib Benzian, FDI Development and Public Health Manager, Dr Julian Fisher, FDI Scientific Affairs and Public Health Manager and Mr Jon Cralle, FDI Development and Public Health Coordinator, Mrs Djerdana Ivosevic, Projects Coordinator, and Christina Lee Thores, FDI Communications Coordinator. Full details of the FDI interventions are available on the FDI website at www.fdiworldental.org/public/wha2010/.

In addition to the Assembly itself, the FDI, along with its WHPA partners, holds annually on the opening day of the Assembly a lunch reception for the diplomatic corps of health country delegations and other participants attending the WHA. The reception, attended by more than 250 participants, gave members of national health professional associations and governments the opportunity to meet and discuss health and the health professions.

The FDI continues to grow in popularity as the number of exhibitors increased, with 384 exhibitors from 34 countries, a 20 per cent increase in the number of exhibitors. 65 per cent of the exhibitors came from outside Singapore. The top visiting countries were Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand, India and Australia.

Staged at the Suntec Singapore Exhibition and Convention Centre, IDEM Singapore 2008 was organized by Koelnmesse and its subsidiary, Koelnmesse Pte Ltd, in association with FDI. The exhibition occupied 10,000 square meters and included 384 exhibitors from 34 countries. The expanded exhibition floor. The FDI presented both its scientific program, the lunchtime Dental Therapy: “The WHPA will build on facilitation of international conferences,”

The next IDEM Singapore will take place on 16-18 April 2010. IDEM Singapore 2010 will be held in conjunction with the 61st World Health Assembly (WHA) in Geneva, Switzerland. The FDI delegation contributed to selected agenda items through presentation of statements on the meeting floor. The FDI presented the following statements independently and jointly with the World Health Professions Alliance (WHPA) on the subjects of prevention and control of noncommunicable diseases: implementation of the global strategy, health of migrants, climate change, female genital mutilation and counterfeited medical products.

Amongst those present from the FDI at the WHA include Dr Burton Conrad, FDI President, Dr John Hunt, FDI Interim Executive Director, Dr Habib Benzian, FDI Development and Public Health Manager, Dr Julian Fisher, FDI Scientific Affairs and Public Health Manager and Mr Jon Cralle, FDI Development and Public Health Coordinator, Mrs Djerdana Ivosevic, Projects Coordinator, and Christina Lee Thores, FDI Communications Coordinator. Full details of the FDI interventions are available on the FDI website at www.fdiworldental.org/public/wha2010/.

In addition to the Assembly itself, the FDI, along with its WHPA partners, holds annually on the opening day of the Assembly a lunch reception for the diplomatic corps of health country delegations and other participants attending the WHA. The reception, attended by more than 250 participants, gave members of national health professional associations and governments the opportunity to meet and discuss health and the health professions.

The FDI continues to grow in popularity as the number of exhibitors increased, with 384 exhibitors from 34 countries, a 20 per cent increase in the number of exhibitors. 65 per cent of the exhibitors came from outside Singapore. The top visiting countries were Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand, India and Australia.

Staged at the Suntec Singapore Exhibition and Convention Centre, IDEM Singapore 2008 was organized by Koelnmesse and its subsidiary, Koelnmesse Pte Ltd, in association with FDI. The exhibition occupied 10,000 square meters and included 384 exhibitors from 34 countries. The expanded exhibition floor. The FDI presented both its scientific program, the lunchtime Dental Therapy: “The WHPA will build on facilitation of international conferences,”

The next IDEM Singapore will take place on 16-18 April 2010. IDEM Singapore 2010 will be held in conjunction with the 61st World Health Assembly (WHA) in Geneva, Switzerland. The FDI delegation contributed to selected agenda items through presentation of statements on the meeting floor. The FDI presented the following statements independently and jointly with the World Health Professions Alliance (WHPA) on the subjects of prevention and control of noncommunicable diseases: implementation of the global strategy, health of migrants, climate change, female genital mutilation and counterfeited medical products.

Amongst those present from the FDI at the WHA include Dr Burton Conrad, FDI President, Dr John Hunt, FDI Interim Executive Director, Dr Habib Benzian, FDI Development and Public Health Manager, Dr Julian Fisher, FDI Scientific Affairs and Public Health Manager and Mr Jon Cralle, FDI Development and Public Health Coordinator, Mrs Djerdana Ivosevic, Projects Coordinator, and Christina Lee Thores, FDI Communications Coordinator. Full details of the FDI interventions are available on the FDI website at www.fdiworldental.org/public/wha2010/.

In addition to the Assembly itself, the FDI, along with its WHPA partners, holds annually on the opening day of the Assembly a lunch reception for the diplomatic corps of health country delegations and other participants attending the WHA. The reception, attended by more than 250 participants, gave members of national health professional associations and governments the opportunity to meet and discuss health and the health professions.